AFTER SCHOOL EATS

In the city of Racine, there are neighborhoods with 68% of the children under the age of 18 that are below the poverty level and rely on meals from school to eat. The After School Eats program serves over 200 children a week with sacks filled with snacks, quick meals and nutritional literature to help them understand why it's good to eat healthy. This program has served the Racine community over 4 years and continues to do so with the help of local recreational centers and community cop houses as pick up locations.

Book Club

FINAO Book Club is a fun incentive to get kids reading. The club offers tokens to any children who come with a book report that they have written from a book that is read to them either by a parent or themselves. The children can turn in their tokens or save them up for prizes that are available. Also, there are parent participation cards that parents fill out to show how they have contributed to their child's learning that week. The club offers incentives to parents as well, encouraging them to stay involved.
